IWA Loggers Denied Relief by Smallwood

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Smallwood said Sunday the government will not make relief payments to International Woodworkers of America loggers in western Newfoundland.

"If they need relief their only hope of getting it is to cease to be on strike," the premier said. "If that means leaving the International Woodworkers of America, so much the better."

At Corner Brook, IWA field director Jeff Hall declined comment on whether 1,400 Bowater's Newfoundland Pulp and Paper Mill loggers were actually on strike or have walked out in sympathy with IWA loggers who struck the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company at Grand Falls Dec. 31.

An IWA official said the company was "just having trouble finding loggers willing to work."

Strike-Long Aid Pledged

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia woodworkers plan to send more than $30,000 a month to aid Newfoundland's striking loggers, an International Woodworkers of America official said Monday.

Joe Morris, IWA district president, said the district executive is recommending a $1-a-month assessment on each of the union's members "for as long as the Newfoundland strike lasts."
